Suggestions for continuous improvement

- Update Care Plans: Participant preferences from feedback forms should be reflected in their Care Plans. The Client Care team should receive and incorporate this information accordingly.
- Activity Planning: The Activities Officer should review feedback when designing programs to align with participants' interests.
- Staff Reminders: Support staff should be consistently reminded to complete "Participant Feedback" forms at the end of each shift.
- Follow-Up Calls: For any "No Good" ratings, the Client Care Officer should follow up promptly to understand concerns and make necessary improvements.
- Learning Reinforcement: Staff should actively remind participants when they learn new skills, helping them recall this during feedback completion.
- Friendship Support: Staff should encourage and recognise budding friendships, offering positive reinforcement.
- Consistent Feedback Collection: Shift leaders should ensure feedback is collected at the end of every STA, Community Access, or In-home Care session. Long-term participants might be asked for feedback monthly.
